FRANK JAMES AN ACTOR.

St. Joseph Herald.

There will be on the stage next year a new theatrical attraction which will be quite a novelty, on account of the play itself and the man who will be the leading character in the performance. Three or four of the best dramatic authors in the country are now engaged in writing a play for Frank James. One of the most noted guerillas of the border.
The one to be accepted will be that which is best adapted to the role Frank James desires to assume.

The play is not to be of the blood and thunder order as many might suppose. A great many theatrical men who have met James say he has a peculiar talent for assuming certain parts in theatrical performances and that with a little practice he will be able to make a good reputation on the stage. Arrangements have already been made by St. Louis amusement caterers to put the play on its feet as soon as the proper one is decided on. While it will not be on the order of the average border drama, the leading features of the play will have to do with guerilla warfare in Missouri, giving some striking realistic scenes and furnishing the audience some thrilling spectacular transformations. The controlling idea in the play is to paint a moral and to depict the reformed outlaw in natural colors, giving the present generation a clear idea of the causes and effects of guerilla warfare and of the conditions that existed after the close of the rebellion.

If the seams of the BUCKSKIN BREECHES were the kind that rip, while the buttons were poorly fastened, and always coming off, we wouldn't say they were good pants.
As it is, such detail is perfect. The seams, buttons, pockets and fit are all the best. They are the best pants we know how to make.

The Perpetuity of Faith.

Kansas City Star.

A strange and significant spectacle is the throng of invalids assembled at Denver to touch the hand of the so-called messianic healer, Francis Schlatter. They come from far and near, from the East and from the West, the old and the young, the rich and the poor. For days past the union station at Denver has been little less than a hospital. As many as a thousand people sometimes arrive on the trains in a single day and wait patiently until they reach the wonderful physician who restores by the power of faith.

These candidates for healing are not in the mass ignorant and belittled people. A week or two ago an influential magnate of a rich corporation journeyed all the way from New York to Denver to submit himself to the ministrations of the healer. He had spent thousands of dollars with the most famous medical experts in the country without benefit. But after a brief treatment from Father Schlatter, he announced himself completely restored to health, and the railroad which he represents has offered free transportation to all of its employees who may desire to visit the healer. It is among this class of people that Schlatter finds a large portion of his patients.

The agnostics and skeptics ridicule as superstition the belief in the miracles ascribed to Christ and His apostles. They pretend to say that the records of the New Testament touching the healing of the blind, the halt and the lame, are the inventions of the early scriptural writers whose imaginations were greatly excited. They have claimed that such "impositions" could not be practiced in these days of light and knowledge. But here is the very same manifestation of faith at the close of the nineteenth century, in a leading city in the most enlightened country on the globe. Schlatter works by precisely the same methods employed by Christ and His disciples.
He gives himself, as they did, to fasting and prayer. He refuses anything in the way of reward for his services. He claims to be directed in all that he does by "The Father," and he relies wholly on Him for his power.

It is profoundly significant that hundreds of people of intelligence and with the faculty of reason believe as fully in Schlatter's power, the healing by the touch of his hand and by the exercise of faith as did the afflicted who followed Christ eighteen hundred years ago and besought His help.

There has been no decline in belief of a man in the unseen and in the operation of those spiritual forces which cannot be analyzed, but which humanity recognizes all the same as a ruling and dominant influence in the world about it.

REPUBLICAN editors are constantly howling about the removal of the duty on wool by the Wilson bill.
Here is what Senator Allison said of the wool tariff in a speech made in 1870 while a member of the lower house of congress: "I will say, with regard to the duty on wool and woolens, that I regard it not as an intentional fraud, but as operating as though it were a fraud, upon the great body of the people of the United States. I allude to the wool tariff, a law the effect of which has been so materially to injure the sheep industry of the sheep husbandry of this country."

GOOD FOR EVERYBODY

Almost everybody takes some laxative medicine to cleanse the system and keep the blood pure. Those who take SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR (liquid or powder), get all the benefits of a mild and pleasant laxative and tonic that purifies the blood and strengthens the whole system. And more than this: SIMMONS' LIVER REGU-LATOR regulates the Liver, keeps it active and healthy, and when the Liver is in good condition you find yourself free from Malaria, Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick-Headache and Constipation, and rid of that worn out and debilitated feeling.
These are all caused by a sluggish Liver.
Good digestion and freedom from stomach troubles will only be had when the liver is properly at work. If troubled with any of these complaints, try SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR. The King of Liver Medicines, and Better than Pills.

DISTURBING RELIGIOUS WORSHIP.

No gentleman will disturb religious services. It matters not how slick his hair or how he parts it, or what kind of clothes he wears, or what may be his alleged social position. When he sets at defiance the solemnities of religious worship and tramples upon the feelings of those who engage in it he shows himself to be a ruffian of a very low order. A man may not believe in religion and be a gentleman, but he can not insult it and be a gentleman. This sort of desecration is becoming so common that the law, which is very strenuous in regard to it, should take hold of it with vigor. The offenders ought to be handed over promptly to the courts, and be branded in the public prints. Usually the offender is some young idiot who thinks he is smart in trying to show his contempt for religious people and to sneer at, and ridicule them. In the absence of a whipping post, a rock pile is the best medicine for him, and the people of this town who have already endured this kind of indignity too long ought to see that he gets it. The habit of young men collecting in the vestibules outside the doors of churches after services to leer into the eyes of college girls and others, is becoming a very unpleasant and reprehensible practice. It does not indicate good breeding and a self-respecting boy, if he will think a moment, will not engage in it.—Columbia Herald.

Sent it to His Mother in Germany.

Mr. Jacob Esbensen, who is in the employ of the Chicago Lumber Co., at Des Moines, Iowa, says: "I have just sent some medicine back to my mother in the old country, that I know from personal use to be the best medicine in the world for rheumatism, having used it in my family for several years. It is called Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It always does the work." 50 cent bottles for sale

Utch Soliloquy.

In Lincoln park a German was overheard talking to his dog. He said: "Mein tog, there is great difference from you and me. Now, ven I get up in the morning I has too vash myself, and dress myself and bring in der kindling, before I con get a bet of breakfast. But its different mit you. Youst as soon as you get up all you has to do is to stretch and den somebody gifts you a breakfast. Vell you play all day, but I haf to work, work all der vile, youst haf fun. Vell the time vill come already ven you haf to die, and den, mein tog, dat is all of you, but it is different mit me. I haf to go to bellyet."

Six weeks ago I suffered with a very severe cold; was almost unable to speak. My friends all advised me to consult a physician. Noticing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy adver-a short while was entirely well. I now most heartily recommend this remedy to anyone suffering with a

Advice For Bachelors.

It is wise to pay bills as soon as possible.

A bicycle should not be kept in a bed-room.

Tooth brushes should be renewed frequently.

A straw hat can be whitened with lemon juice.

Good clothes are the cheapest in the long run.

It is a good thing to go to bed early once in a while.

It is never worth while to eat in a restaurant alone.

It is a mistake to stay in bed late on Sunday mornings.

A loaded revolver is not a desirable article to furniture.

One portion at a restaurant is usually enough for two.

Orderliness and cleanliness are about the same thing.

A bath-tub should be enameled for the sake of cleanliness.

There are more than enough pianos and banjos in the world.

The lower hallway is not the proper place to stable a bicycle.

One can dress well with little money and badly with much.

It is unwise to get under the control of one particular waiter.

The shoes with very pointed toes seen now-a-days are unsightly.

Clothes should be brushed once a week to keep moths out of them.

HOW TO PREVENT CROUP.

Some Reading That Will Prove Interesting to Young Mothers.
How to Guard Against the Disease.

Croup is a terror to young mothers and to post them concerning the cause, first symptoms and treatment is the object of this item. The origin of croup is a common cold. Children who are subject to it take cold very easily and croup is almost sure to follow. The first symptom is hoarseness; this is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough, which is easily recognized and will never be forgotten by one who has heard it.
The time to act is when the child first becomes hoarse. It Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given, all tendency to croup will soon disappear. Even after the croupy cough has developed it will prevent the attack. There is no danger in giving this remedy for it contains nothing injurious. For sale by W. C. Gaston.
